

---

decal question

Posted by gts03eclipse - 2007/08/10 06:40

---

Hey russ, I ordered two club 3g south east decals from you a couple weeks ago. well today i tried to put them on. the back layer of the decal would not peel off. after a lot of working, i finally got it off but apparently the little dot in club3g.com had paper on the back and would not stick. because it was so small and impossible to tear paper off, i cut the dot out of the other decal i ordered because i had decided to only put on one anyway. well this dot would not stick either after i removed the final layer. its on the car now but can easily be moved with a finger. is there anyway i can get it to stick ?

=====

Re:decal question

Posted by Russ - 2007/08/10 14:52

---

gts03eclipse wrote:

Hey russ, I ordered two club 3g south east decals from you a couple weeks ago. well today i tried to put them on. the back layer of the decal would not peel off. after a lot of working, i finally got it off but apparently the little dot in club3g.com had paper on the back and would not stick. because it was so small and impossible to tear paper off, i cut the dot out of the other decal i ordered because i had decided to only put on one anyway. well this dot would not stick either after i removed the final layer. its on the car now but can easily be moved with a finger. is there anyway i can get it to stick ?

Hmmm.. once the sun hits it, it does a lot better job of solidifying it. If you run into any problems with it let me know rsanderlin@tearstone.com

=====

Re:decal question

Posted by gts03eclipse - 2007/08/12 15:33

---

thanks, yea i figured sun too. its been a couple of days now and i think its on there good! thanks for the help and the service! love my greddy ti-c by the way!

=====